Basically a walking simulator with a bunch of random quotes thrown.. Basically a walking simulator with a bunch of random quotes thrown.. Very relaxing minimalist game, somewhat platforming, somewhat walking simulator, with beautiful piano music. Took me 41 minutes to complete, and that included checking every space to make sure I didn't miss any orbs. Didn't encounter any bugs, but did notice a few misspellings ("affraid" and "loose" instead of "lose") which didn't detract from it. It's not a typical game, as there's really no win/lose, no enemies or serious obstacles, no puzzles, etc. It's just you, walking along, collecting orbs and reading messages, and moving up the levels. It won't be your "I have to play this!" game, but it's a nice, positive way to relax and take a break. Definitely recommended.. This game isn't bad, but it's not great either. It's about 30min long (unless you go back and replay for achievements), and pretty much impossible to fail. The gameplay consists mostly of wandering along retrieving fortune cookies and hitting switches until you advance to the next zone. It's different, it's chill, but it's not amazing. One really frustrating aspect to me is that it allows you to use a controller for navigation, but not for camera control or jumping. so.. Wonderfully soothing world. Fun challenge yet not rage inducing. Highly recommend as something different.. Short platformer that is easy to 100%. Would definitely play additional levels and increased difficulty if it was released. Otherwise, not bad for 50% off.. Such a beautiful game. The music is incredibly soothing and the visual style is simple, yet marvelous. You can let yourself be absorbed by this games atmosphere, while also having something to think about.. This game is so calming, so chill. I will most likely play this game multiple times. I hope that they make more games like this. I found this game through 9gag, will never regret it. Such a beautiful game.. a gameplay for you <https://youtu.be/V85PcX-fps> , fun game to play with not very lengthy smooth and with good enough music in the background 3d platform sothnig different but recomended
